Curtails the Volume of Coal Mining Operations in This Section of the State.

That the Baltimore and Oblo raiload is not able to supply sufficient cars to keep the coal mines in this region operating to their full capac-ity is the word that comes from opeare not enough locomotives either to keep the cars moving as they should. Both these impediments in marketing the product have been a serious handicap to the business.

The mines of this region are running as near to full capacity as the car supply will permit. While the railroad company has ordered new cars and locomotives it will be some Sale on 8 quart time before they will be in operation.
